THE INNER MAN IN CONFLICT

A public accustomed to read of murders, hold-ups, triangle tragedies, bootlegging and all scandals over the breakfast cup without a quiver has received a shock over the murder of a youngster of fourteen by his abductors. Perhaps the uniqueness of this murder is making it one of the most talked-of cases to-day. The usual motives to which the public are accustomed are missing in this case, which make it all the more puzzling. It appears that two young men, college graduates, of the best Jewish families in Chicago, kidnapped the young son of another wealthy Jew, and demanded from the father a ransom of ten thousand dollars, which the father of the dead lad was willing and about to pay without notifying the police. Before the act of ransom could be consummated the boy was found dead in a swamp. A pair of eyeglasses gave the clue which led to the arrest of the two young men now in custody, charged with the crime. Though all the facts are not yet revealed—and we are unwilling to fasten the guilt on them—it seems from the newspaper reports that the two college graduates are the guilty parties.

One asks what could be the motive of such a crime? Money? Hardly, because the young men accused are the scions of wealth, and investigation reveals that they each had bank accounts. Feeble-mindedness or insanity? Quite impossible, because the accused are college graduates, the one holding a B.A. degree and the other a B.Ph., who completed their courses at nineteen and twenty respectively, which indicates that they are not dullards, and from all we know of their families insanity seems improbable. A grudge against the family? Wrong again. The boys admit that the victim was hardly known to them and that it was quite immaterial to them whom they kidnapped. Bad moral upbringing? You are again pursuing the wrong track. Their families are among "the best" in Chicago. Are they moral perverts? We have it on good authority that both boys are "fine chaps" and were not in any way addicted to any unusual vices, excepting that they took a drink occasionally and "ran after girls." But this is not uncommon in the average young man of to-day. In vain does the average man seek for an explanation or a motive in this case. It seems to us that the explanation or motive will have to be sought for in the field of abnormal psychology and psychiatry, which, being in their infancy as yet, do not speak with the scientific assurance that the public and the law require. Nevertheless, it is only psychology and psychiatry which can explain those transformations in the human psyche which account for the absurd, strange, erratic and erotic things which all the rest of us so-called normal human beings do at one time or another. Perhaps the true explanation for crime, misdemeanors and all other lapses from normal behaviour are to be found in the presence in every one of us of erotic tendencies operating in one degree or the other.

Lombroso, the famous Italian Jewish psychiatrist and physician, explained all genius on the basis of the erotic in us. When the erotic nature of an individual expresses itself in a constructive social or artistic way, it is called genius, whereas when this same erotic nature expresses itself in an anti-social and destructive way, it is regarded as crime and the person as a criminal. The one thing that requires to be impressed on most people, since the most of us are neither geniuses nor criminals is that all of us possess a degree of the erotic in our make-up, which alone is accountable for our queer acts and lapses from time to time. We are all Dr. Jekyls and Mr. Hydes at one and the same time. The Biblical writers recognized this when they said, "There liveth no man on earth so righteous that he sinneth not," or again in the phrase, "The inclination of the heart of man is evil from his youth." The popular phrase, "There is a little bit of bad in the best of us, and a little bit of good in the worst of us," is the same thought, only expressed in twentieth-century phraseology.

Since this is the case, how is it, one wonders, that society is civilized and not a jungle? The answer is to be found in the fact that the world has accepted the Hebraic ethical ideal which is also embodied in Christianity and Mohammedanism, to wit, that though recognizing the presence of the erotic in our human nature, it is desirable to curb and control it, to set up fences to keep our actions in bounds with man and God. It is for this reason that Jewish ethics is a moral system of "Thou Shalt Nots." What is ofttimes disparagingly referred to as Puritanism is but the Christian version of this Jewish "Thou shalt not" ethics.

Of late, however, due to the vogue which first Nietzsche and now Freud have achieved, there has come to the fore a new moral formula—"self-expression." This new cult is diametrically the opposite of the ethics which teach moral control and suppression of some of our instincts. The cult of self-expression states that since human beings are endowed at birth with a bundle of instincts, it is each individual's right, nay, duty, to develop and express these instincts. Society for the sake of its own welfare has declared the development and expression of some instincts as good and others as bad. The development of those instincts which further established institutions and norms of life society calls moral; whereas it looks with favour on the suppression of certain other instincts whose development and expression might prove disastrous to the established and existing institutions which it regards as necessary. Freud and other psychiatrists hold that the suppression of certain instincts, such as the sex instinct, in the hopes that they may ultimately atrophy or fail of awakening is erroneous. He has proved over and over again that the suppression of instincts does not eliminate them, but rather drives them into our subconscious minds where the suppressions lie dormant for a while, only to begin to operate when we least expect them to come upon the scene. They act like naughty, impudent children talking out of their turn. They are responsible for the erotica in our natures. The new cult, therefore, advocates full and free expression to all our instincts and maintains that through the exercise of deliberative control, which will come about by proper education, there will result a balancing up and equilibrizing of action that will be socially constructive rather than destructive.

This new cult of self-expression is responsible for the present "shake-up" which is going on in the present world of ideas. We notice it in modern philosophy and literature, in modern writers such as the Russians, who are most introspective, especially such men as Dostoievski, Gorki, Artziebasheff. We see it in Schnitzler, in Ibsen, in Knut Hamsun, and even in our own American writers, Sherwood Anderson, and others of this school. This new cult of self-expression has been accepted by our intellectual youth, who have swallowed it, hook, line and sinker. Self-expression is their philosophy of life, even if this self-expression leads to the hurt of others. Perhaps the Chicago youths who are responsible for the murder operated on this thesis. They confess to reading of abnormal psychology and probably also came under the influence of the new school of writers in modern literature. Instead of suppressing and overcoming the erotica in their nature, which led them to this horrible crime, they gave full and free vent to their erotic instincts, and to-day they stand convicted before the bar of public opinion of a crime whose motive the public cannot understand, but whose bestial consequences they grasp in all its fulness. The remarks attributed in the press to the accused substantiate our diagnosis. They are supposed to have confessed that they deliberately murdered the fourteen-year-old lad "for adventure and experiment."

Your Curtains

EVERY HOUSEWIFE who takes pride in the appearance of her window draperies, yet despairs at the difficulty of stretching them to proper size and shape after washing, will be interested in the service rendered by our curtain department. When they come in, the curtains are first carefully measured. Then they are washed with pure soap, being handled throughout this process with utmost gentleness. While still wet, the curtains are placed in pairs on a new and ingenious drying frame which stretches them perfectly even and flat at their exact original size. This frame holds all four sides whether they are straight or ornamental, so that the edges are perfectly parallel and even the corners absolutely square. Curtains cleaned and finished in this establishment are returned shaped as perfectly as when new. We know that our work will please you. Telephone us and we will send for your curtains.

Paul Whiteman's jazz concert last week-end called out low-brows and high-brows to hear jazz dignified and made important in Massey Hall without defiling the place where some of the world's greatest musicians have stood. The high-brows were the ones who were disturbed this time to make up for the many times that the low-brows have wished they had stayed at home with the radio set. They were plainly mystified, entranced and amused at the combination of regular symphony orchestra musicians playing regular wild-eyed jazz, much of it the kind that made many a dancer want to wriggle his clothes right off. The low-brows were perfectly at ease in the presence of a muse surrounded by what looked like kitchen utensils and players with feet that helped keep the difficult and barbarous time. They didn't care whether Paul Whiteman's sort of concert was marking a new era in the musical history of this country or not. But there is no doubt that the high-brows were giving the devil his due with the ominous feeling that the "Rhapsody in Blue" meant more in the legitimate musical world than an exciting, abandoned jumble of notes. Perhaps, too, they were wondering with Henrietta Straus in the Nation such things as "whether this now Slavic, now Oriental element in jazz is not due to the fact that many of those who write, orchestrate and play it are of Russian-Jewish extraction; whether, in fact, jazz, with its elements of the Russian, the Negro, and the native American is not that first distinctive musical phase of the melting-pot for which we have been waiting so long and which seems to have such endless possibilities."

"When, against my inclination, the sport column of the dailies is flaunted before my sight and I glance at the baseball brutes and the prize-fighting beasts, I mistake them for gorillas, apes and monkeys. Again, when at the Central Park menagerie, I see the gorillas, apes and monkeys, they look to me like the sports, the baseball, football, basket ball players, et al. . . .

"This mixed multitude of calf-and bat-and-ball worshippers, that is the bore, the nuisance and pest of the day, is still with us. Do not look now for worshippers in churches or congregations there is no sport there, for God is no sport—look for them in baseball fields and on the streets, staring at blank brick walls where sport news are flashed, by some newspaper arrangement, now and then. . . .

"It is games that robbed our children from the Talmud Torahs and Yeshivahs. It is the sporting and game mania that took many of our men and women from synagogues and from study circles such as Chevra 'Shass,' Chevra Tehilim, Mishnaos, etc., and instead of the Psalter, put in their hands a pack of cards and turned them to gamblers, frauds, thieves, forgers, suicides, gangsters, fake rabbis and bootleggers, and disreputable, incompetent, lying journalists. Man's business in his progress towards God is to banish the brute and beast in him and to develop the divine that lies hidden in his heart. . . .

"When we Jews ape the sport craze we become the ape of apes. We are not against joy nor play, but there is a lower and a higher joy and play, animal joy and play and angel joy and play, and we prefer the higher, namely, that of the angels. We always love to be on the side of the angels. . . ."

These are excerpts from an article in the Jewish Forum signed "A.A." In still another place in the same article the writer says, "And we need humour everywhere. . . ." Yea, verily, even in the Jewish Forum.

The Freeman which passed recently in its fourth year and with its 208th number was the best thing we ever knew in the way of an American journal of critical opinion and we regret its passing with the same sense of personal loss that every other member of the Freeman Club in every other part of the globe must feel. The Freeman was a gift of common sense to the American people although they did not want it sufficiently to make possible its continuance. All of its supporters appreciate its freedom and sanity, but its Jewish readers owe it a particular debt in memory. The Freeman was the one liberal paper we know which never became maudlin over Jewish problems or tried to kill the Jews with kindness.

For every wash-day method

RINSO is ideal for any wash-day method you use. You do not have to change any of your usual steps—just use Rinso where you used to use ordinary soap.

If you like to boil your white cottons, Rinso will give you just the safe cleansing suds you need in the boiler. If you use a washing machine, follow the advice of the big washing machine manufacturers—use Rinso.

Just soaking with this new kind of soap loosens all the dirt until a single rinsing leaves the clothes clean and spotless.

However you do your wash, make it easy by using Rinso.

Rinso is sold by all grocers and department stores

If you use a Washing Machine, soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual. In the morning add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Then rinse and dry—you will have a clean sweet snow-white wash.

New Realty and Financial Firm

Toronto has a new real estate and financial firm in The Commerce Real Estate and Finance Company, organized by two well-known business men of Toronto, J. J. DeYoung Greenberg and Reuben Cohen, with offices in the Federal Building. They will carry on a general real estate and mortgage finance business.

Mr. Rube Cohen was born and went to school in Toronto and was connected with the original firm of Pearson Bros. on Adelaide Street East, one of the pioneer real estate firms of Toronto. He started as office boy and later he became a member of the firm upon the death of the late Charles Pearson.

Rube Cohen

member of The Commerce Realty & Financial Co.

During the last three years of association with this firm his time was mostly taken up with arbitration and valuation work and has placed valuations on some of the most valuable properties in Toronto, which on many occasions have been accepted and acted upon by the High Courts and Surrogate Court.

In 1920 he severed his connections with Pearson Bros. to branch out for himself under the firm name of Canada Realty & Building Company, with offices in the Kent Building. During this time he consummated some of the largest Yonge Street leases and sales, among them the Fairweather, the Hennessey Drug Store, Owens-Elmes Shoe Store, the Tamblyn down-town store leases, and the Uptown Loew's Theatre sale. He also built some of the finest homes and business buildings in the City, among which are the residences for Sir Clifford Sifton and his two sons on St. Lawrence Avenue East at a cost of approximately $400,000, the Arthur Britton house on Cluny Crescent, and the Alladin Building at the corner of King and Simcoe Streets for Mr. Lawrence Solman, and various other factory buildings throughout the City.

Before associating himself with Mr. J. J. DeYoung Greenberg and The Commerce Realty & Finance Company, Mr. Cohen took a trip to the States and studied conditions of the realty and building market there. During his three months' travel he visited California and other prominent Western centres, including Chicago. He returned to Toronto on May 20, optimistic that Toronto has a brighter future for good realty investments than most cities on the Continent.

Mr. Cohen is unmarried and a member of many fraternities, clubs and charitable organizations, among them: Mount Sinai Lodge, A.F. & A.M., Mount Sinai Chapter, The Federation of Charities, The Primrose Club, the "Y," Bnai Brith, and Holy Blossom Synagogue.

Mr. J. J. DeYoung Greenberg, popularly known as the "silver tongued orator," is a well-known business man of Toronto. For the past 19 years he has been in partnership with his brother, M. G., in various lines of business. Mr. Greenberg came from New York in 1905, organized the firm of DeYoung Company and later organized many firms, some of which play a successful part in the business life of Toronto.

He has been connected with the real estate market for years and has made a keen study of building and financing, having built many apartment houses, stores and a large number of homes throughout the city. Before the war, together with his brother, he conducted a private banking and financial business. Mr. Greenberg has decided to devote his entire time and attention to The Commerce Realty & Finance Company.

Mr. Greenberg is a member and trustee of the Holy Blossom Synagogue, life member, chaplain and past master of Mount Sinai Lodge, A.F. & A.M.; worthy patron and life member of the Eastern Star Deborah Chapter; member of the Primrose Club, the Federation of Charities and other fraternities.

Mr. Greenberg has been married for the past 19 years and has three children, Mrs. Sydney Jacobs, Miss Adele and Russell.

49TH TROOP NEWS

Owing to the fact that the Y.M.H.A. have moved from their old quarters, the troop is temporarily left without headquarters. S. M. Tobias will meet with the assistants and they will decide what course to take. The last meeting was held at the Montefiore Club Rooms. Captain Tobias explained Decoration Day.

The new patrol, with Ben Freed as acting patrol leader, had one patrol meeting, at which they decided that they would call themselves the Foxes. It was suggested that they call themselves Beavers, but they declined with thanks, as they argued, when the boys sing Caracticus and the time for "beaver" comes, they would be the centre of attraction, and a scout is unostentatious.

Dan Krendal, acting A.S.M., will form a patrol of the patrol leaders and seconds, and will teach them the first class, etc. They will pass it on to their patrols.

The 49th announce that Lawrence Abramovitch will be A.S.M. Mr. Abramovitch could not accept the position earlier on account of his exams.

The game with the 19th proved disastrous to the 49th. It was a furious game in which every boy played his best, but weight finally told, and the final whistle blew with the score 2-0 in 19th's favour. The boys will bear many scars for the next two weeks or so as a reminder of the game.

First Canadian Young Judaean to Settle in Palestine

Mrs. Bernard Joseph (formerly Miss Goldie Hoffman, of Montreal), is the first Canadian Young Judaean to settle in Palestine. Always an active Zionist, she sailed for Palestine four years ago, and worked first as a chaluz and later as secretary to the attorney-general, Norman Bentwich.

Mrs. Bernard Joseph
Formerly Miss Goldie Hoffman of Montreal

Returning to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hoffman, after an interval of four years, during which she became the wife of Bernard Joseph, also a former Montrealer, and the mother of one son, Amyram, she brings news of the other Montreal Young Judaeans who settled in Palestine within the last three years. Their success she attributes to the fact that they arrived in Palestine with a working knowledge of Hebrew, and definite training. Yiddish is not spoken at all, and the social and national life of Palestine are closed to those who do not understand Hebrew, she says. There are positions, but only for the trained and experienced worker. All the Montreal Young Judaeans now in Palestine are actively engaged in work.

Miss Lillian Kert, who is a school teacher in the Evelina de Rothschild School, of which Miss Landau is headmistress, is considered one of the best teachers in Jerusalem. At the Sports Day, held during Passover Week, which was a gala time for both tourists and Palestinians, Miss Kert's classes led all the other schools. She will be a delegate to the Empire Exhibition in London, before returning to Montreal for a visit in August. Miss Frances Joseph is the secretary to the attorney-general, Norman Bentwich, and Miss Goldie Louis is with the government secretariate, holding a position which was left vacant by Miss Mildred Joseph, when she married Mr. I. Abbady the chief translator for the government. Miss Esther Levitt is with the Keren Kajemeth, and the newest arrival, Miss Una Schechter, has not yet taken a post. Issie Herman is secretary to the director of the Brandeis Bank and Louis Ginsberg is in charge of the orphanage at Balfouria.

Mrs. Bernard Joseph, who speaks of life in Palestine as normal, healthy and happy, will spend the summer here, before returning to her home to rejoin her husband, who is practising law in Jerusalem. He is a brother of Philip Joseph, who recently graduated in law at the head of his class.

Unlike the duck
is woman---

She doesn't take naturally to the water—particularly the hot sudsy water of the wash tub. Yet her dislike and the duck's fondness are both reasonable. Washing is nothing short of drudgery under the best of conditions. Hence the popularity of our five different kinds of "family wash" service. All are reasonably priced—all are good—each is slightly different. In each, soft water, pure soap, sunlight, fresh air and separate washings are outstanding features. JEWISH SOLDIERS BLAMED FOR GERMANY'S BREAKDOWN

German Military Experts and Soldiers Deny Charge

Berlin (J.T.A.)—The question of who was responsible for Germany's breakdown during the world war was again discussed by the special Parliamentary Committee appointed to investigate the matter.

Deputy Phillip, representing the pan-German, Nationalist Party, submitted a report in which he put the chief blame upon the Jewish soldiers of the German army, who, he stated, caused the breakdown by their cowardice and unfitness.

However, the German military experts who were called by the Committee, declared under oath that these charges were absolutely unfounded. General Kuhl, Chief of the General Staff of the Rupprecht Army, Colonel Stuelpnagel and Lieutenant Schwerdtfeger stated that from their personal experience and from the military records, they know that the Jewish soldiers fighting at the front conscientiously fulfilled their military duties and were the first ones to deserve the Iron Cross. They also stated that the Jewish soldiers who were not in active service were very efficient in their work and indispensable.

The figures published a few days ago by the Association of Jewish Soldiers bear out the statements of the military experts. According to these figures, 96,000 Jewish soldiers voluntarily enlisted being 12% of all those who voluntarily enlisted. Four-fifths of the Jewish soldiers fought at the front and over 12,000 were killed. 35,000 were decorated for bravery, 1,000 receiving the Iron Cross. 23,000 received promotion to the first class, 2,000 becoming officers.

REAL NORDICS DEPEND NON-NORDIC IMMIGRATION

Minneapolis (J.T.A.)—A defense of non-Nordic immigration is made in a recent editorial in the "Tidende," the Norwegian Republican newspaper published here:

"A great many arguments are advanced in favour of continued restriction, and even in favour of complete exclusion of all who wish to come to our shores. This viewpoint is not confined to Americans of old lineage; among those most eager to close the door we often find some comparatively recent arrivals, their attitude being something like this: 'Now that I am in, close the door.'

"We make bold to assert that if a restrictive quota had been put into operation before the arrival in the great Middle West and Northwest of the millions of Scandinavians, these regions of our country would be sadly deficient in those very respects in which they now excel. It is true that the Scandinavians, being the purest Nordics, are more readily assimilable with the original Colonial stock than the people of Southern and Eastern Europe, which of late years have constituted the larger part of our immigration. But there is no reason to assume that these races cannot be assimilated. Sufficient time has not been allowed to prove that. There are those who, when the Scandinavians first began to arrive in this country in large numbers some sixty years ago, advanced the very same arguments against their admittance to the United States, which now are brought forward against these later arrivals."

FEDERATION CAMPAIGN PLEDGES TOTAL $75,000

$75,000 was reached in the pledges in the Campaign of the Toronto Federation of Jewish Philanthropies which closed Tuesday. The final report at the Primrose Club gave a total of $73,148 and additional amounts of approximately $2,000 have been turned in at headquarters since. This represents 1,822 members, a gain of 80 per cent. over last year's membership.

Rabbi B. R. Brickner, President of Federation, asked that members constitute themselves an all-year-round Campaign Committee on behalf of Federation. Charles Draimin, Chairman of the Campaign Committee, and Louis Brenner, Campaign Director, praised the Women's Division.

The presentation of a life-size portrait of himself was made Edmund Scheuer, Sr., by the Jewish community. Mr. Scheuer, one of the founders of the Federation and the Treasurer of the Campaign Committee, has been in Toronto for the past thirty-eight years. The picture was presented by Charles Draimin, a former Sunday School pupil of Mr. Scheuer and was done by Joshua Smith of Toronto. Mr. Scheuer predicted that when business conditions improve, the income of Federation will reach $100,000.

The committee entrusted by Lorie Simonsky with the presentation of a lady's handbag to the worker securing the largest number of subscriptions, announced that Mrs. J. Cohen, Mrs. M. L. Willinsky, and Mrs. A. Simonsky were evenly divided for first honors and the three ladies donated the bag. It was auctioned off by Sol Lyon and bought by S. Harris, the highest bidder, for $50.00.

One contribution of $15.00 was signed "A Christian well-wisher."

Abraham Cohen, Chairman of the meeting, said that arrangements will be made immediately for the formation of the Business Men's Council and Ladies' Auxiliary, which are to be an adjunct to the Federation.

LATVIAN POST OFFICE OFFICIAL CHARGED WITH RIFLING AMERICAN MAIL

Riga (J.T.A.)—5,000 American letters, containing money, sent to residents of Latvia, were opened and rifled of their contents by an important official of the Latvian Post Office, Mr. Legavia. He carried on this practice of stealing from the American mail systematically over a period of several years, and was only discovered to-day and taken into custody. It is estimated that the money he took amounted to many thousands of dollars. Most of his victims were Jews whose relatives in American had sent them remittances.

10,000 CHASSIDIM REJOICE AT WEDDING OF RABBI'S DAUGHTER

Bucharest (J.T.A.)—10,000 Chassidim from all parts of Eastern Europe assembled at Marmaross, Sziget, Transylvania, for the wedding of the Chassidic Rabbi Tritlebaum's daughter.

The scenes of the wedding, especially the leading of the bride to the "chupa" to the strains of music and Chassidic songs, were reminiscent of the mediaeval beauty and charm.

All of the Chassidim were the guests of the Rabbi for several days, and after the ceremony all partook of a great feast.

LESSING'S "NATHAN THE WISE" FILMED

New York (J.T.A.).—"Nathan the Wise," the famous drama of Ephraim Lessing, has been made into a motion picture under the name of "The Sacrifice."

Lessing's immortal play was filmed in Jerusalem, and has in the main role the German artist, Werner Krauss, the male star of the "Miracle." The production, which has many appealing elements of Jewish, Turkish and Palestinian life, is one of the most costly and magnificent films ever made. On Thursday, April 24th, there was a press showing of the picture at the Simplex Projection Rooms in New York City; and it is expected that the picture will soon make its appearance at one the thirteen-year-old lad "for adventure and experiment."

The cult of self-expression is having its very serious consequences. Its spread means that present society is in the position of resting on a volcano which will erupt. The self-expressionists are urging more and greater freedom. Laws and conventions, say they, bind and fetter us. Binding ties of any kind are repulsive to them. The words responsibility and duty are to them reprehensible. To be free is their ideal. To us the issue appears to be clear-cut. It is between wild freedom, neurotic freedom and positive freedom. To us the sort of self-expression which permits the neurotic and erotic in our make-up to find an outlet even if it be to the hurt of others and self, is not freedom at all, but license. We maintain that civilized society can only exist through the imposition of ties that bind and bridle those instincts in the individual which are erotic and exotic and which lead to harmful social consequences. It is the existence of ties and restrictions which make the human world a civilized place and not a jungle where the law is, eat, or be eaten. In this respect, then, the individual must yield to society, though it should be the ideal of society to strive to develop the individual and this can only be achieved by a maximum opportunity for self-expression. This is so because each individual possesses certain creature impulses and desires. To develop these creative possibilities it is necessary at times to uproot the weeds that grow in the garden of our psyche. These weeds grow spontaneously and abundantly, unlike the tender flowers which require cultivation and care. The erotica in our being are the weeds of our psyche. The moral ideas and ideals are the beautiful flowers.

When talking of self-expression, it is well that we have clear in mind what we mean by the SELF that we wish to give expression to. There are three aspects of Self, instead of two as is popularly thought. They are the lower, the higher and the highest Self. The lower aspects of self are the instinctive animal side of our nature; the higher self represents our intellectual faculties, and the highest self our spiritual and moral natures. It is universally accepted in civilized society that when the interests of the lower self are in conflict with the interests of the higher self, the lower or animal self ought to give way to the higher self, and so in turn the higher should yield, when in conflict, to the highest self. Man operating on the basis of his lower self, which means operating with no moral brakes working, is reduced to the level of the animal, which lives only for the gratification of its instincts. The lower self crushes those higher faculties in man which are indispensable to the thinker and creating being. The mental and spiritual instability which accompanies a life led on the lower level is inimical to that power of concentration and devotion which is so essential to achievement in the arts, sciences and business. It makes us slaves to our passions instead of masters. Thus the unbinding of the animal and erotic instincts in us which is involved in free self-expression, blocks the way to the exercise of these higher and highest faculties in man. Because this is psychologically so, we believe that for the sake of positive freedom and true self-expression—the expression of our highest selves—it is essential to curb to check and to bind the erotic and animal instincts and impulses in our nature. To sum it all up, the world needs again to return to the Jewish ethical system of "Thou Shalt Nots." The new cult of self-expression is leading to unbridled freedom, which is license. We believe that the investigations of the Chicago case will reveal to the world an unfortunate example of the consequences of the new cult operating on the minds of precocious but nevertheless immature, inexperienced youths.
